

Paid Advertisement

WARNING

Residents of Norfolk &
Surrounding Communities

PETA may be in your neighborhood rounding up animals to kill

This is Maya. She was a happy and healthy dog. Surveillance video shows that PETA staff members took her from her home while her family was out. They later admitted putting her to death. Two PETA staff members were arrested for larceny.

According to records from the Virginia Department of Agriculture & Consumer Services, PETA, which is headquartered in Norfolk, took in 1,971 dogs and cats in 2011 and killed 1,911, a 97% rate of killing. Over the last 11 years, PETA has killed 29,426 animals.

If you live in Norfolk or a surrounding community, allowing your dog or cat to go outside unsupervised may place your pet in danger of being killed by PETA.

PETA took Maya from the porch of her house in Parksley, VA on October 18, 2014 and then killed her.

Above: Healthy animals killed by PETA in another case, including a mother cat, her kittens and several puppies. Two PETA employees were arrested after a police detective witnessed them throwing the garbage bags which contained these bodies (and many others) into a supermarket dumpster. The tacklebox - containing poison and syringes to inject it - was seized by police from inside a PETA van. Photographs are from the court's file in the case State v. Hinkle, North Carolina, 2007. See <http://bit.ly/XCSdI3> for more information.

For the surveillance video, police reports, state inspection reports, photographs, and more showing how PETA has killed tens of thousands of animals, including healthy puppies and kittens without ever trying to find them homes, visit:

WHYPETAKILLS.ORG